Feedback and Analysis and Action Taken of feedback reports

The feedback received from the different corporates employing our engineering students from different domains conveyed good remarks. The main feedback message emanating suggested the good performance of the students and their ability to take up multitasking. The young engineers were coming up to the expectations of the employers.

From the different feedback wavelengths, the Institute could decipher that corporate wants students who understand the concept of values and ethics and are abreast with the macro environment of their domain. Therefore, it was decided to take up additional knowledge on value, ethics and macro environment of various engineering domains in content beyond the syllabus training material.

Campus Director suggested the concerned department to conduct invited guest lecture talks on the above stated topics.
